

PROBLEM

In 2018, George began experiencing blood in his urine. After seeing a urologist, he was told he had carcinoma (cancer) in his bladder. His condition was quite severe so George and his family put all their focus on his health. Rest assured, they knew they were in good hands through Best Doctors Insurance, which gave them access to the very best healthcare.

SOLUTION

First, George underwent a cystoscopy, which did not produce the expected results. Immediately afterwards, he was told that he needed an immunotherapy treatment called Bacillus Calmette-Guerin (BCG) therapy, in which a vaccine is injected directly into the bladder. Shortly after treatment began, George started to experience strange symptoms – he was allergic to the vaccine.

At this point, Best Doctors facilitated a quickly-scheduled appointment with an oncologist in Panama. His approach was far more radical than the previous doctors' and he told George that a cystectomy was needed immediately. With his daughter's wedding quickly approaching, George was hesitant but he had no choice. Best Doctors arranged everything on his behalf and the process was seamless. The operation was a success and while his recovery was painful and difficult, George reached his ultimate goal and was able to walk his daughter down the aisle just a few short months later.
